

I am using 2.4Ghz unlicensed equipment to provide high speed internet to my family and friends in our local area. I would like to see more channels and a little higher power available for more range.